

Children Are Children All Over The World

- Children are children all over the world
- They share the same big sky of blue
- They share the same sun and the wind and the rain
- The moon, and the same stars as you
- They find games to play, just like you, everyday
- They have birthdays and holidays, too
- Did you ever think children all over the world
- Are just little children like you?